

Greetings, Parents!

September 22, 2009

The Kindergarten class checked out Library books for the first time this Tuesday. Last week we discussed the importance of taking care of their Library book and bringing it back to Library the next time they have class.

Kindergarten's scheduled Library day is Tuesday, which is when their books are due. However, Mrs. Zeamer and I would like the children to bring their books to school on Monday so that when it is time for Library on Tuesday, there isn't a scramble to find books.

Please refer to the school handbook for Library policies. If a book is overdue there is a fine of 5 cents per school day and students are not allowed to check out another book until the late one is returned. If a book is damaged or lost, you are responsible for replacing it with a new copy.

Please discuss care for books with your children and ENJOY reading with them! It is a wonderful time to snuggle and have fun together!

Thanks, Mrs. Spicer
